OUR COTTON REVIEW last week quoted middling estion in New York at 13je, at which it remained throughout the week. New Orients quoted 13: fell next day to 121c, the day after to 121c on Wednesday to 1243, but on week were 16,900 more than on the corthere, and these receipts, in their tur net upon the market and reduce price Now the floods are all around cotto cannot be hauled to the railroad station and river landings, and as soon as who had an unsulated there is worked off to celpts must necessarily decline, white cannot fail to benefit the market, sur posing no unforcesson circumstance t et in. Beside the decline in receip the fact of the country being covere with water is suggestive of the possibilby the amount of land cultivated being educed, for this year is not as the last; when the waters rose last spring a considerable portion of the land had been plowed. This year not a thing has been done; the catton planter has to begin at the beginning. Should rains set in and sustain the high water for some time, the amount of next year's acreage would necessarily be restricted by such an occurrence. At all events the flood will delay planting and every farmer knows that a late crop is a crop in danger. True it is that last year we did well with a late crop, and if the we ther should be favorable. to cotton throughout the summer we may do well again, but is it not almost too much to count upon having such ood fortune two seasons in succession? Considerations such as these have made holders in our market more firm and more indifferent about selling for the two or three past days, and they look confi-dently forward to a similar hardening effect being produced everywhere. Speculators are also watching the market coverly, and buying warily as op-portunity offers. It is whispered that they are only partially reporting their sales, being desirous of avoiding to draw attorion to the fact that they believe "they got a good thing." Receipts in Memphis curing the official we k aggregated 5663 bales, against 14 929 bales the previous week, and corresponding week last sea-Total shipments since September 1st are 413,019 bales, against 276 229 bales the same time last year; an increase of

The stock on hand was 47,503 bales, against 53 470 bales last week, and 38,-084 bales at this time last year.

Sales during the week were 7900 bales, against 10,500 bales the previous week, and 4800 bales the corresponding week last year. Of the 7900 bales sold this week, spinners took 4700, except and steady; 1:30, quiet and steady porters 2100, speculators 1100; against 2600 bales to spinners, 1075 to speculators, and 1150 to exporters the same time conspicuous at 74°. The sun came down on the levee, driving loafers to shady retreats. Everybody who could afford it were sunshades, every conceivable shape of old umbrella being brought into requisition to do duty in that capacity. Rivers.

We are rejoicing in the prospect of an early and rapid decline in the river here. Saturday a decline of half an inch was reported; Sunday a decline of an eighth of an inch, and yesterday stationary. This is the usual forerunner of a steady decline. As far as we could learn yesterday, no further damage has occurred to the farming interests below here, the latest arrivals reporting all serene. The Illinois will take a large number of sacks down this evening with which to strengthen the weak place at Eutopia, which was holding out against the tide when that boat came up. We sppend the official and other reports of the condition of the river here and else-
